Education 2020 moves students toward diplomas

Over four dozen students connected education from their past toward the goal of a diploma through a virtual learning program used for the first time by the Crawford AuSable School District (CASD).

The school district, for the 2009-10 school year, started using the Education 2020 computer multimedia program to help students at the Grayling High School and the district's alternative education program recover credits toward graduation. The program is offered to students 16 to 20. Pg. 12

Sixteen canoes traveled down the AuSable River on Saturday for the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter's Bark in Your Boat River Float. The event was held out of Penrod's AuSable River Resort. Two dogs joined their owners in the canoes, while others stayed on shore awaiting their return. The shelter raised $600 through the event, which included a silent auction. The funds will go toward the shelter's building repayment fund for the new shelter, which opened in 2007. Above, Kimberly Oblak, Preston Oblak, J.P. Oblak and Deloras Ward prepare for their river float. The family, from Grosse Pointe Woods, is pictured with the darling diva of the family, a Lhasa Apso named "Coco," owned by their mother and grandmother Diana Hurlbert from Clinton Township. City changes direction for farm market master

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Grayling City Council on Monday planted a new person in the seat for the community's farm market master.

The council agreed to hire Beth Hubbard as the farm market master for the community's farm market.

At the council's May 24 meeting, city attorney Michael Edward advised the council not to enter into a contract with Farm Market Master Tom Wellman due to a potential conflict of interest. Wellman, a former city council member, had operated the farm market for six years.

On May 25, former Grayling City Manager David Thayer was arrested for a charge of campaign finance public-body contributions.

Grayling attorney David Sabin, who is acting as a special prosecutor for the case, said Thayer is being accused of developing campaign literature for Wellman. City time, resources and a city computer were used to assist Wellman, who failed in his bid for reelection to the city council in November.

Since the last meeting, Grayling Mayor Karl Schreiner said the city council received a disturbing letter from Grayling Department of Public Works employees Daniel Benson. In the letter, which Schreiner read at Monday's meeting, Benson said that Wellman approached him in the city park and said he had better be prepared to lose his job because the State of Michigan would be taking over the city. When Benson said that two other employees would be potentially laid off before him, Wellman allegedly said several employees would be losing their jobs.

"I don't know about the rest of the council, but I'm not inclined to sign a contract See CITY CHANGES | Pg. 3

Anglers support expanded gear restrictions

DNR & E fish biologists catch an earful at hearing

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Fly-fishing enthusiasts from northern Michigan and throughout the Midwest implored state fisheries biologists to fulfill a legislative mandate to expand gear restrictions on regional trout streams.

Over 150 fly-fishermen and women attended a Department of Natural Resources and Environment (DNR & E) public hearing in Grayling last week to give their input on proposed changes to trout and salmon fisheries in the state.

The first gear restrictions were put in place on the North Branch of the AuSable River in 1907. In the 1940's and 1950's, much research was done on the trout streams. In the late 1970's, gear restricted waters were expanded to cover 105 miles for fly-fishing and 19 miles devoted to research. Gear restrictions refer to using artificial flies only, catch and release fishing and bag limits.

In 2002, the Legislature agreed to expand the amount of gear-restricted waters up to 212 miles. But it wasn't until earlier this year that the DNR & E started accepting nominations for trout streams that anglers would like to see gear restrictions placed on.

Paul Meyer, a member of the Headwaters Chapter of Trout Unlimited, said gear-restricted trout streams need to be expanded to draw fishing enthusiasts to the state.

"I look at trout waters in Michigan as an absolute jewel," he said. "There's some of the best fly fishing in the country in this state, and we need to protect it. We need to grow it and it needs to be promoted that you can come to this state and catch trophy fish."

As of last week, DNR & E fisheries biologist have only agreed to expand the gear

Summer art displays, workshops set to begin

A rotation of art displays and workshops in the AuSable Artisan Village Gallery will begin this weekend.

A reception will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, June 18, to mark the opening of a one-week exhibit by Grayling area artist Jackie House. The AuSable Artisan Village Gallery is located at 108 East Michigan Avenue, where Chief Family Court/District Court Monte J. Burmeister's former law offices were located.

On Saturday, June 19 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., House will conduct a workshop in colored pencil drawing. The class is open to a maximum of 10 students, and the fee for the course is $20. House said the course will focus on creating a color wheel, and blending and matching colors.

"It's a really basic beginning to colored pencil and a real basic See SUMMER | Pg. 3

House created a number of the colored pencil drawings of fishing lures for the AuSable River Recreation Expo held in April. After that event, she decided to draw actual fish and other objects as she stuck with the colored pencil medium.

"I need something with some contrast and something that's going to catch people's eyes," House said.

House worked as a full-time art teacher for the Waterford School District for 10 years. Prior to that, she taught art at the Oakland County Children's Village, a detention facility for troubled youth and juvenile offenders and shelter for abused and neglected children.

House owned a second home in Frederic for 13 years, and decided to move north three years ago after retirement. House said being a full-time Crawford County resident allows her to devote more time for her artwork, painting and pottery.

"It's really nice to have a spot where I can work on my art and I don't have to put it down every five minutes to go off and teach," House said. "It's been really nice and I highly recommend it to everyone."

Seven other artists will offer workshops and displays for viewing through the end of August. The list of exhibitors include:

- Barbara Weisburg, watercolor painting, Friday, July 2 through Wednesday, July 7.

- Lon Gauthier, sculpture, and Jeff Gaydash, photography, Friday, July 16 and Saturday, July 17.

- Colleen Wagner, basket making, Friday, July 23 through Thursday, July 29.

- Nancy Faust, stained glass, Friday, July 20 through Thursday, Aug. 12.

- Djam Vivie, drum making, Friday, Aug. 13 through Sunday, Aug. 15. A second workshop will be added, if needed.

- Judy Clyma, quilt making, Friday, Aug. 27.

The AuSable Artisan Project Committee is seeking individuals who will volunteer a few hours to keep the new gallery open. The hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce agreed to help coordinate the volunteers as well as keep a list of classes being offered in the AuSable Artisan Village this summer.

House said she is looking forward to the exhibits and workshops and believes the momentum can be carried over to the Apollo's Lyre Art Gallery during the fall and winter for similar courses.

"I think it's going to be exciting if we can get the arts in Grayling going," House said. "We have a variety of events and classes for the summer and it's going to be a real fun thing."

with someone who is acting like that toward the city," Schreiner said.

Wellman had no comment on the incident when contacted Tuesday.

Grayling City Police Chief Doug Baum, who is serving as the acting city manager, said the Crawford County Michigan State University Extension Office has made $6,000 available to support the city's farm market to support vendors and purchase supplies.

Hubbard has been working with Melissa Piehl, who oversees MSU Extension's Family Nutrition program.

Hubbard has already been working with the Grayling Uptown District Association for a farm market, which will be held in conjunction with the community's Harvest Festival. She already had contacted a half dozen farm market vendors.

"I would like the opportunity to grow the farm market and have it benefit the community," Hubbard said.

"That's my intention in this."

Hubbard said she has traveled to farm markets in Boyne City and Gaylord, and would like to expand the opportunity to purchase fresh produce in Grayling.

"I want this for the community and that is my goal behind it," she said.

Hubbard, and her husband, Dave, grew up on farms.

"I have a lot to learn, but I feel I have a lot of skills to bring," she said.

Hubbard will be reimbursed for expenses she incurs running the farm market.

"That's only fair," said Grayling Mayor Pro Tem Larry Akers.

The salary for the season will be capped at $3,000, which was what Wellman was asking to be paid.

"I would hate to have it open ended," said Grayling City Council Member Dennis Robinson.

Bernero, Cox wrapping up endorsements

IN POLITICAL campaigns, candidate endorsements don't necessarily translate directly into votes, and sometimes are worth about as much as the paper upon which the endorsing press release is written.

Even so, candidates value endorsements. When you're running for office, it's always nice to know somebody likes you.

In Michigan's convoluted campaigns for governor — or, more correctly, campaigns for the privilege of running for governor — Democrat Virg Bernero and Republican Mike Cox at this point seem to be leading the rush for endorsements.

Lansing Mayor Bernero early picked up usually potent endorsements from industrial union brotherhoods such as the Michigan AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers. More recently, US Rep. Dale Kildee of Flint, who has been in Congress for 32 years, and his nephew, former Genesee County Treasurer Dan Kildee, who ran for governor this year for a few days, along with Democratic office holders in Genesee County, publicly endorsed Mr. Bernero.

In other words, the Lansing Mayor has in his corner heavy establishment Democratic party regulars, who generally don't cozy up to the other Democratic candidate, House Speaker Andy Dillon, although Mr. Dillon has lined up endorsements from some unions, mostly in the non-industrial areas.

Speaker Dillon is too moderate for their tastes, meaning he's too unpredictable, while with Mr. Bernero, the party line and the union line are the Bernero line as well.

AMONG REPUBLICANS, Mike Cox has been blessed by the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and Michigan Right to Life, two influential groups who usually back Republicans.

Among the other four Republican candidates, there's not much difference in how they approach issues that are important to the Chamber and Right to Life, so some may be scratching their heads.

Endorsement of Mr. Cox from a couple of influential Grand Rapids political activists, Richard DeVos and his wife, Betsy DeVos, also is quizzical.

The DeVos family is one of the paragons of "West Michigan." So is US Rep. Pete Hoekstra of Holland, who is leaving Congress after nine terms. What happened to the home town hero? Why bless Mr. Cox and snub Mr. Hoekstra?

Mr. Hoekstra credited the choice to "Lansing insiders," which Mr. DeVos claimed was ironic coming from "an 18-year Washington incumbent."

All sorts of reasons for the DeVos-Cox axis are logical: Mr. Cox ran on the same ticket when Dick DeVos lost the governor's race four years ago. Betsy DeVos worked with Attorney General Cox in Lansing when she was state Republican chair a few years ago.

Perhaps it's a question of influence within the burgeoning "West Michigan," which runs roughly from Grand Rapids/Holland along Lake Michigan to Traverse City and beyond, and which often reflects a distinct and growing parochialism.

Would a "Governor Hoekstra" from Holland adversely affect DeVos influence in "West Michigan"?

When will "West Michigan" petition for separate statehood?

OTHER ENDORSEMENTS have hobbled up here and there.

Secretary of State Teri Lynn Land, another original Republican candidate for governor, bowed out early and cast her lot with Oakland Sheriff Michael Bouchard, who promptly promised Ms. Land would be his candidate for lieutenant governor.

Mr. Hoekstra has been endorsed by US Rep.

Candice Miller of Macomb County, which has given rise to rumors that Ms. Miller would be Mr. Hoekstra's running mate, if and when.

Michigan native Mitt Romney, now of Massachusetts and apparently edging into the 2012 race for president, also has endorsed Mr. Hoekstra.

Another potential 2012 presidential candidate, former Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee, has endorsed Mr. Cox.

The big question, of course, is what will Sarah Palin do?

DO THEY HELP? — Primary elections usually draw small turnouts dominated by the faithful of both parties, but the Michigan primaries could be different this year.

The pattern of primary elections across the country so far is that turnouts are large and voter unrest is quite evident in the results.

The endorsements discussed here generally reflect usual party standards and positions. Will that be good enough for Michigan voters in 2010? "Politics as usual" has not been acceptable in most cases in other states this year, and these endorsement patterns so far are traditional.

Michigan voters may well seek out the least traditional candidates in either party this year to try to get away from "politics as usual" and breathe new life into the Michigan political system, which has been remarkably ineffective for several years.

That could mean that Democrat Andy Dillon and Republican Rick Snyder, the Ann Arbor businessman who is the only candidate in both parties not now holding public office, would attract support from voters, precisely because they are not attracting huge support from the usual political sources.

Letters to the Editor

Remembrance of sacrifices by veterans is important to each of us

To the editor:

In response to Mr. Wargo's letter in the June 10 Avalanche. The members American Legion Post #106 of Grayling provided the American flags and veteran markers for all of the veterans' gravesites in Crawford County.

Each spring, members of the Post spend countless hours placing flags and markers on the recent gravesites of veterans and replacing the worn flags and markers along with new ones on existing graves.

The City of Grayling allows us the privilege and honor of performing such a service for the community.

Sometimes veterans' graves are missed either by not being previously marked or there is no notation of military service on the gravestone. We apologize if we missed some sites.

Remembrance of the sacrifices of all veterans on Memorial Day and Veterans Day is very important to each and every one of us.

We ask that if anyone has information on a missed veteran's grave, that the location be noted and the information given to the Legion and we will ensure that an American flag and veteran marker is provided.

Does alcohol and drug addiction have another side?

Yes! In years past alcoholism and drug addictions were treated as individual conditions. Recently new research in this field has proven that substance abuse problems have an additional common cause, this cause in many instances is an underlying form of emotional or mental illness.

Persons coping with these addictions experience many and varied struggles such as, unusual stressors in society, causal symptoms, and possibly troubled relationships. The recent research shows when these addictions and underlying causes are treated concurrently overall recovery to a better quality of life will lead to a more successful recovery. Even more than if these addictions were treated individually.

A local community mental health agency can offer this hope for success in the recovery journey. The implementation of co-occurring recovery groups provides support in all the aspects of this recovery effort. Groups are to address the interpersonal relationship between substance abuse and mental illness by providing coping strategies, change behaviors and foster better healthier lifestyles.

Discussions over a wide range of issues from building emotional resilience to the real nature of addictions are an integral component of this recovery network. Groups at your local community mental health are designed to be safe so persons can discuss their concerns without going to separate programs or facilities.

Especially sensitive is the lack of information to students that is invaluable to students so they can understand the consequences for the misuse, abuse, of medications not intended for their use that have the potential to lead to addictions.

The sooner these issues are addressed the more positive the potential outcome. The younger students in the schools are especially vulnerable to negative peer pressures. The need to address addictions and their negative outcomes in schools (sooner than later) will go a long way to helping students make positive changes in their lives.

There are persons within the Community Mental Health (CMH) care system called Certified Peer Support Specialists (CPSS) who lead community groups and can provide a one on one support. The CPSS are persons who have "been there done that" so they provide a unique input and guidance to persons who have substance abuse issues. The "brainstorming" that the informal groups provide with others in the community have shown that when a person talks with a CPSS even one time the recovery from substance abuse can be improved dramatically. The CMH's that provide that service have recognized through experience when persons within the community come together a remarkable change may result. Being able to talk out these issues with mental health providers in the CMH system can also bring a faster recovery. The "one warm point of entry" in the CMH system does not tell a person that they must recover from their alcohol or drug substance abuse before treatment can begin. The possibility of an underlying emotional or mental illness is treated at the same time when substance issues are discussed. Various groups are forming currently at your local community mental health. MiPATH group is Personal Action Towards Health, Pathways to Recovery, Men's and Woman's groups and Co-occurring disorders are also available just to mention a few.

We need to protect School Aid dollars

Every parent and grandparent should be aware that Governor Granholm and House Speaker Dillon joined with Senate Majority Leader Bishop in calling for the use of School Aid dollars to offset funds in the state's general fund.

Clearly anyone interested in what has been happening with school budget cuts over the last decade in Michigan knows many districts are on the cliff or falling over it. Schools are closing, staff and student programs have been decimated.

Every year the school aid our local districts receive from the state is less than the costs of operating the district. Therefore school boards have had to make cuts each year more than the previous year.

Now to make a bad situation worse comes this idea for a new shell game; school aid funding intended by the citizens of our state for k-12 education to be used as a bail out of the general fund.

For years the state has refused to balance their checkbook. Now their latest scheme is to raid the school aid fund! What a historic mistake that would be, if you believe children are our future. No more bail outs at the expense of our children's future!

Please join me in advocating for our next generation. We will need them to be brilliant in order to solve all the problems they will inherit. Let's tell Lansing we expect them to protect School Aid dollars for their intended purpose and to keep their hands off of our children's future! Our children and grandchildren deserve a more responsible solution.

Parents will be able to have their child's car seat inspected by a fully-trained technician for proper safety and installation requirements courtesy of the Michigan State Police.

Loads of area service organizations and agencies will be at the event to explain what services are available in our community and how they can be accessed.

If you are in need of housing assistance, there will be people available to speak with to learn about the many different housing programs that are available in the community and some will have applications on-site for you to complete if you are eligible for these programs.

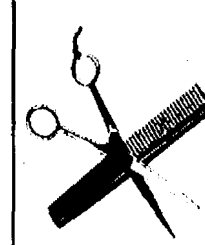

Department of Human Services staff will be present to help determine if you are eligible for cash or food assistance programs through their office.

The Bible Speaks

Unbelief Destroys

Last week we studied how Gentile pride against Israel and the Jews is forbidden, fatal, and foolish in Romans 11:18,19. Today we study how unbelief in God's promises destroyed Israel and can also destroy today's churches filled with Gentiles. "20Well; because of unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest by faith. Be not highminded, but fear: 21For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee."

First, faithlessness in God's person, promises, and provision corrupted Israel: "20Well; because of unbelief they were broken off..." They did not believe Christ's miracles in John 12:37: "37But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him." God destroyed an entire generation of Jews in the wilderness because of their unbelief in Jude 1:5: "5I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not." Romans 10:16 told us: "16But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Esaias saith, Lord, who hath believed our report?"

Second, faith in God's promises converted us Gentiles: "...and thou standest by faith..." Ephesians 2:8,9 reminds us we were only saved by grace through faith: "8For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: 9Not of works, lest any man should boast." Both God's grace and God's faith were God's gifts to us unto salvation. We did not a single work to save ourselves or give us reason to boast. We are, "Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith..." (Heb. 12:2a). As James 1:17,18a says, "17Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. 18Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth..." "23Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever." (1 Pet. 1:23). "17So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." (Rom. 10:17).

Third, fear of God's person should characterize us

"...Be not highminded, but fear." Romans 3:18 tells us what God sees as He examines the natural human heart: "18There is no fear of God before their eyes." Hebrews 12:28 reminds us, "...let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear." People in the 21st century are filled with fears and phobias about everything but God. Yet, those who fear God and trust fully in Him need fear nothing or no one else.

Fourth, fairness of God's punishment cautions us in Romans 11:21: "21For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee." If God spared not His chosen people Israel from punishment for unbelief, how much more should we Gentiles in the church age expect God's judgment for unbelief, in His person, word, and work. Revelation 21:8 warns us that the unbelieving, "...shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone; which is the second death." Pastor "B"

"The Broken Chain"

We little knew that day God was going to call your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same. It broke our hearts to lose you, you did not go alone, for part of us went with you, the day God called you home.

You left us beautiful memories, your love is still our guide and though we cannot see you, you are always at our side. Our family chain is broken, and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again.

We love you Dad,

Happy Father's Day

Card of Thanks

There are times that the written word is not adequate enough to convey the depth of emotion felt. Hopefully, this is not one of those times. The benefit dinner/silent auction held for Chelsea Wardecke was a resounding success and without the support of this great community, it would never have happened.

To Chris Zuiker and the employees of the Grayling Country Club, thank you from the bottom of our hearts for opening your doors and letting us take over for several hours. We only had to think that we might need something, and there it was, without question or cost. We are forever grateful to you!

To every business that donated food and drink, without your generous help we would not have been able to send nearly the amount of money that we did. Thank you so much.

To all of the businesses that donated products and gift certificates, you are amazing. There were so many wonderful things to bid on, and your generosity will always be remembered.

To every single person that came out on a rainy Sunday afternoon to eat and bid on items, you made us speechless with your huge hearts and generous wallets.

You have all helped us to make some of the everyday worries and problems seem easier to handle with your selflessness. We are so blessed to have such wonderful people standing with us through this ordeal. Thank you again.

Chelsea Wardecke

Librarian earns Permanent Professional Certificate

Crawford County Library Director Bambi Mansfield was awarded her Level I Librarian's Permanent Professional Certificate from the State of Michigan's Department of Education on May 19.

This certificate is issued to persons who have documented receipt of a Library Science Degree or the equivalent from an American Library Association accredited program followed by four years of paid professional full-time employment.

Before becoming a librarian Mansfield taught Art and Humanities classes in Crawford County and South San Pete, Utah. Mansfield earned her Bachelor's of Arts degree from Madonna University, A Master's in Education from Grand Canyon University and a Master's of Arts in Information Resources and Library Science from the University of Arizona.

Earning this certificate allows Mansfield to be recognized and qualify for most directors' positions within the state of Michigan.

"This certificate opens many doors of opportunity for me, but, my heart is here," she said. "It is an honor and privilege to work for the people of Crawford County. I love being a librarian here and I look forward to many more years of serving the public."

Since Mansfield has been the director of the Crawford County Library System, there has been a significant increase in programming for all ages as well as an increase in library use. She credits this to the willingness of her staff to stretch their imaginations and to find ways in which to make taxpayers dollars go as far as they can.

"We are here to enhance the lives of those we serve. In these troubled times public libraries are one of the only places that you can find education, entertainment and technology free of charge," Mansfield said "We are striving to meet the community's needs."

This summer the library staff anticipate serving over 200 children through the summer reading program as well as programming to include family, senior and long term care facilities.

Sheriff's Report

Crawford County Sheriff Kirk Wakefield reports his office handled the following 106 complaints the week of June 7 - June 13.

Twenty-six general non-criminal complaints, one delinquent minors, six false alarm activations, two assault/intimidation/stalkings, three burglaries/home invasions, two larcenies, one motor vehicle theft, one fraudulent activity, one obstruction of justice-contempt of court, 16 public peace disorderlies, one

OUIL/UBAL, seven health and safeties, one miscellaneous criminal offense, two miscellaneous arrests, 11 traffic accidents, one accident-all other, one drug overdose, four family troubles-domestic, nine suspicious situations, 10 driving violations/driving while license suspended and one failure to file public liability and property damage insurance.

Three Vikings earn all-league honors in record-setting year

The Grayling High School baseball program – following a season in which several school records were challenged or broken – recently announced its team awards and all-league honors for the 2010 campaign.

Grayling's three all-conference selections were Jensen Aubry (P/IF), Tyler Hanson (OF), and Zach Wolcott (P/IF).

All-district selections included Aubry, Hanson, and Taylor DesEnfants.

Jake Helsel, Ethan Lewis, and Aubry earned academic all-district honors.

Team award winners included: Most Valuable Player – Aubry; Most Improved Player(s) – Helsel, Wolcott; Rookie of the Year – Zane Tobin.

Aubry finished the season with a .505 batting average (second in school history), 14 doubles, three home runs, 36 RBIs, and a 7-5 record on the mound. He set a new school record for hits in a season with 51. Aubry, a junior, is now second in school history with 26 career doubles and second in career RBIs with 71.

Wolcott finished with a 5-5 record and an ERA of 2.77. He posted the second highest single-season strikeout total – 90 – in program history.

DesEnfants, a senior, posted a 5-2 pitching record and tied the school's record for career wins (19).

The 2010 team set a new program record for wins (22) and runs scored (235) and was second all-time in stolen bases with 69.

John Schneider, coach of the squad from 2006 through 2010, recently announced he will not be back next year. He compiled a record of 60-41-2 in five seasons.

"My goal was to develop a winning program that the community and students will be proud of," Coach Schneider said. "This season we played some very good programs, like Saginaw Heritage and Nouvel, competing very well against them. My coaching staff and I worked very hard to get our program to where it is today. We got the program as far as it can go at this time without some changes. I wish the best for the players coming back next season; they should be a very competitive team."

Stream & Lake Map of Michigan

The STREAM & LAKE MAP OF MICHIGAN resembles another map—known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map." The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible—a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 by 5 foot map.

The map sold extremely well—until it was lost several years after it first appeared in print. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to a landfill.

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue.

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology—the STREAM & LAKE MAP OF MICHIGAN was created.

Why every angler and boater needs this map

Professor Higbee's Stream & Lake Map of Michigan is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. The 4-foot-by-4-foot Michigan map shows 35,000 miles of streams plus lakes.

Education 2020 moves students toward diplomas

by Dan Sanderson
 Staff Writer

Over four dozen students connected education from their past toward the goal of a diploma through a virtual learning program used for the first time by the Crawford AuSable School District (CASD).

The school district, for the 2009-10 school year, started using the Education 2020 computer multimedia program to help students at the Grayling High School and the district's alternative education program recover credits toward graduation. The alternative education classrooms are housed in the former Frederic Elementary School and the program is also offered to students from the Mio Ausable School District. The program is offered to students 16 to 20.

Education 2020 offers core and elective classes to students in a virtual setting. The curriculum is designed to meet state curriculum benchmarks and guidelines.

The classes start with vocabulary words followed by lectures and instruction from teachers in virtual classrooms. The students then go through practice problems and are allowed to review lectures and fine-tune their knowledge with more practice problems as they proceed through the course.

After the lectures and studies, the students take a quiz, which they must score 70 percent or higher to earn a passing grade. They then go through five to six more similar modules in the course before taking the final test, which they must also achieve a score of 70 percent or higher.

The computer courses allow the students to work at their own pace. They can do their studies at home or at the school. The tests and quizzes, however, must be taken at the school and teachers Walt Tilson and Dave Ross are there to make sure the students are making daily progress.

"Our teachers monitor that on a daily basis and they can tell if the students are starting to slip a little bit," said Paul Brunell, the community education director for CASD.

Some students work on one course at a time, while others bounce and jump between the classes to vary up their school day.

Students earned as little as two credits and up to seven to eight credits through the virtual classrooms. Over 50 students participated in the alternative education classroom this year, and eight students received their high school diplomas.

"It just gives them another opportunity to earn some credit that they wouldn't normally have," Brunell said.

Brunell said the alternative education program typically graduates 20 to 25 students. He expects to reach that number of graduates in the next school year since more freshman and sophomores were enrolled in the school rather than juniors and seniors.

Those students will also have the option to participate in a summer school education program, which will be housed at the Grayling Middle School. The students will be able to work on the classes at home, and come in one day a week to take the quizzes and tests.

"Those kids are driven so they will work from home,"

The Crawford AuSable School District, for the 2009-10 school year, started using the Education 2020 computer multimedia program to help students at the Grayling High School and the district's alternative education program recover credits toward graduation. Above, student Corey Lile said he liked the new program, which was more rigorous, because he learned more and it was more user friendly.

Brunell said. "Every little bit helps and they like the smaller environment."

The school district does offer some GED preparation instruction and is considering using Education 2020 to assist some of those students. Brunell, however, said the alternative education program strives to get students to earn their high school diplomas unless they are up there in age.

"They can get their GED, go to Kirtland Community College and get on with their life," he said. "We look at that on an individual basis, but typically we try to steer them toward a diploma."

Before this school year, the alternative education program used a previous computer program called NovaNet.

Brunell said students were apprehensive with the change while starting with Education 2020, but quickly became accustomed to the new program, which is more rigorous.

"Once they became comfortable and realized what it all entailed and what they had to do - they just flew with it," he said.

Education 2020 offers traditional courses in math, algebra, social students and science as well as new courses such as financial math, career planning and development and environmental science.

Student Corey Lile said he liked the new program because he learned more and it was more user friendly. He also appreciates being in the smaller environment with the alternative education program.

"At the high school, you can only earn a certain amount of credits," he said. "Up here, you can get as much done as you possibly want."

Ross, who also taught alternative education in Houghton Lake, said the multimedia and virtual classrooms keep students engaged as opposed to just reading off a computer screen.

"It's a lot better education," Ross said. "This has been a real successful year and they're really enjoying this and we're looking forward to another successful year next year as well."

Student recognized as citizen of the year

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A Grayling Middle School eighth grader was recognized with a long-standing award as she and her peers make the next step to the Grayling High School.

Marilyn Jankowski was honored with the Peg Milnes Award at the eighth grade graduation held on Monday, June 7. She is the daughter of Michelle and Mike and Jankowski.

Grayling Middle School Principal Jeff Branch said the award is given annually and was established by the Grayling High School Alumni Association a number of years ago.

The award is given to the student who is the best all around good citizen for the eighth grade class.

Branch said five students were nominated for the award by the eighth grade teaching staff.

Jankowski stuck out because she is a three-sport athlete, playing basketball, volleyball and softball. She is also very committed to her studies and shows respect to her peers and adults, Branch said.

Finally, Jankowski served her sixth and seventh grade years on the Grade Middle School's Student Council, representing the interest of the other students at the school.

"She's just an all around great student in every aspect," Branch said.

A total of 150 students will transition from the Grayling Middle School to the Grayling High School for the next school year.

"It's a great class going to the high school and it's been fun working with them for the past three years," Branch said.

Michelle and Mike Jankowski were proud to see their daughter recognized at the graduation.

"It definitely was an honor for our daughter to be picked out of the entire eighth grade class," Michelle said. "We've tried to bring her up and teach her what's right from wrong and it's paid off."

Marilyn Jankowski said she was proud to receive the award and owed some of the recognition to her teachers, coaches and family.

"I'm so proud of myself for coming so far," she said.

Outside of school, Jankowski is involved with the St. Mary's Church Youth Group. This summer, she plans on attending a Michigan State University Extension 4-H Camp and a church camp. She also plans to spend time with her grandparents in Amherstburg, Ontario.

In the fall, Jankowski will be taking advanced biology and advanced algebra, as she and her peers become freshman at Grayling High School.

"I'm nervous and excited at the same time,"

Jankowski said of the next school year.

A Look At Our Past FROM THE PAGES OF THE AVALANCHE

23 Years Ago June 18, 1987

Crawford County Sheriff deputies closed the Camp Grayling Enlisted Men's Club Friday night after being called to a fight there. When deputies arrived, the fight was over but said there were more than 100 military persons, many intoxicated, in and around the building. Deputies made everyone leave, but no arrests were made.

A decision to place a millage request for ambulance service on the ballot for parts or of all of Crawford County was delayed until the late June or early July county commission meeting while county representatives work out some financial arrangements with Frederic and Maple Forest Township.

In an attempt to obtain funds to build a new home for area seniors, the Crawford County Board of Commissioners has set Aug. 18 as the date for a special millage election.

A tree attacked a man and canoe on the AuSable River this weekend and the result was a totally wiped out canoe. Although it sounds a bit like a fairy tale, the fact is that a birch tree fell just as Mark Handzlik, of Rochester, was paddling by in a rented Penrod canoe. He heard the cracking of the tree as it began to fall and had just enough time to throw himself forward in the canoe. The birch hit the canoe at an angle across the rear seat where fractions of a second before, Handzlik sat. It crunched the sides of the canoe according to witnesses and broke all of the ribs.

Thirteen twirlers of the Twilight Twirlers were warmly received on Mackinac Island, when they took part in the Lilac Festival Parade. Those who marched on Mackinac Island were Monica Stephan, Susan Bourrie, Marie McIsaac, Sherry Millikin, Colleen Kelly, Penny Taylor, Nancy Brown, Cindy Dyer, Elizabeth Halstead, Debbie and Nancy Bartholomew, Jackie Hull and Arvilla Galvani.

The Don Smock home was the scene of a send-off party for their daughter, Cheryl, as she is leaving June 22 for Spain as this years exchange student.

The work of R.W. Collens of Grayling is developing a method of building concrete "log" cabins in the Northern Michigan resort section is featured in the current issue of the Concrete Builder.

Collens created his own market by developing a new product especially adapted to local needs.

C.C. Fink of Gaylord has returned to Grayling and taken over the management of the Hanson Cafe, owned by Frank Bennett.

A spark from a chimney lighting on the top of the false front of the Grayling Mercantile store building started a fire that caused quite a bit of excitement Wednesday afternoon. There was a lot of smoke and flames were shooting up when it was discovered, however, the City Fire Department made short work of it when they appeared on the scene.

Peter Lovely is back in his old stand - the Arthur Howse building near the Grayling Bakery. He operated there in the restaurant business for several years. It was later known as "Jeff's Chop House" which went out of business a couple of weeks ago. Now Mr. Lovely is back at the old stand ready for business. A license to sell beer was granted at the special council meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Frank Barnett has remodeled the second story of the Grayling Restaurant building, making three very comfortable apartments. All have been nicely repaired and the woodwork and floors painted in harmonizing colors. Each apartment is equipped with hot and cold water, shower bath and lavatory. There are built-in cupboards in each of the kitchens and extra windows added for ventilation and light.

Each year there is in store awards for members of the graduating class of Grayling High School who are the most outstanding pupils. This year Patricia Roberts and Richard Lowe were the lucky ones to receive these, the former receiving the American Legion scholarship award and the Kiwanis award and Richard Lowe receiving the Legion award for boys.

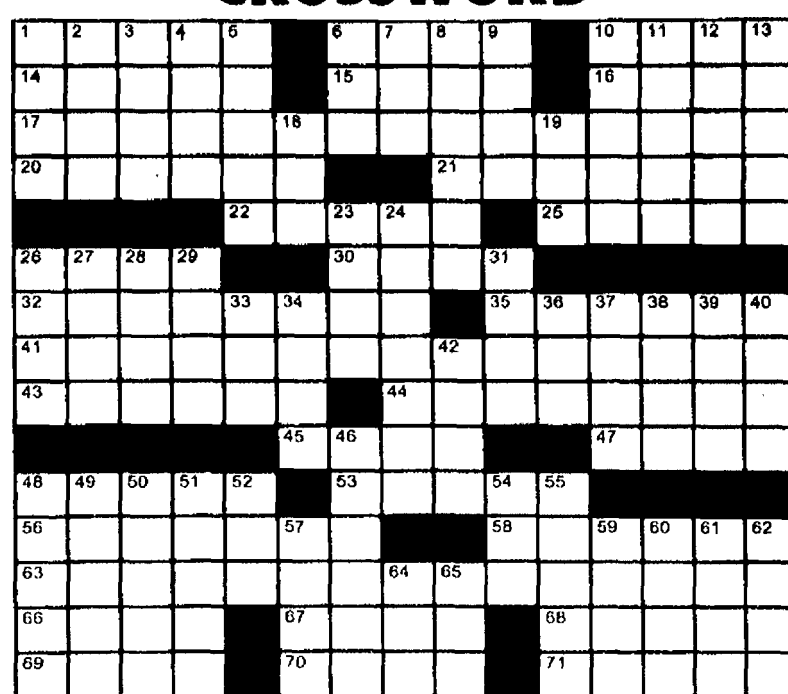

92 Years Ago June 20, 1918

Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett of this city have purchased a farm in Ogemaw county. They sold their home on Peninsular Avenue to John Dutton and wife.

Paul Ziebell has resigned his position as clerk in the Salling Hanson company store and will accept a similar position in Detroit.

Scout, Bailey & Harry

Does anyone recognize Scout, Bailey and Harry? They were left tied to a post at the new soccer field on Saturday night. When Animal Shelter staff found these dogs on Sunday morning they were badly tangled and one of them was injured as they had apparently been in a scuffle. We have no idea who these guys belong to or why they were tied out on the post so we could use your help.
